Hello Joel,

Here are the answers:

- How can this be changed? I want the template for the classes providers to sell to be different text in the description than what the classes have on the main site.
> Actually, your main products are cloned as they are. To be able to have a different description for providers, we'll need to give a separate description field on the Edit Product page. That description will be shown on the provider's home page. Will update you on this.

- Just to confirm if I understand correctly, I will not need to pause sales or class progress for students at all?
> Exactly. We're working on the Sync script, and we may need to put a part of that script on your current site. Will try best to get it done by the end of next week.

That's great, sounds good.

Two additional things that I think I sent in previous emails but may have been overlooked.

1. Editing the providers default template in elementor is very difficult. The elementor widgets are off and spaced in a way that I can't edit certain aspects, like the page header image. I can send screenshots if needed.
    a. Similar thing happens when looking at the home page in elementor.
2. The map widget on the providers page is defaulting to a set random location. It needs to be the address (or addresses) of the provider.

Thank you!
